

We spent a little extra on groceries to add the above foods to our dogs diet and saved $800 because she no longer needs surgery!! In addition to that, we cut her narcotics (Rimadyl for her hip dysplasia) in half!

Let me add some perspective here. Morgyn has been on these meds twice a day for at least the past 4 years. We fill her scripts at Costco so we save a ton by doing that and it still costs $80 for a month's supply. More exciting even than the all the money this has already saved us, Morgyn has more spunk and energy than we have seen in her in a long time. She used to refuse to go outside sometimes at night before bed because it was too painful for her to get up. Now she jumps up like she did years ago and doesn't crack and pop like she has in a long time. I can't even remember the last time she hasn't.

As far as Kaster's tumor, I'm not sure if I can see a change in his tumor since it's on the inside on his mouth and hard to see. I have seen a huge boost in his energy levels, just like Morgyn's, since feeding the veggies. That's enough for me to keep feeding the veggies. Because of the results we have seen so far, we are taking the leap and going full RAW. Raw meat in addition to everything else we've been feeding.

See below for what we fed and how much.

I hope Morgyn's story is enough to make you try adding the the veggies, or better go full on raw diet.

For us, we will never feed kibble again. Not to our current dogs and not to our future dogs.

Kystal Nierman

Owner, Director of Training

Dog Psychology and Training Center

trainingthepack.com

Blog Post - Should You STOP Feeding Grain Free?:

<http://greenvilledogtraining.com/%F0%9F%9A%AB-stop-feeding-grain-free/>